Great Religious Significance is embodied in Red Ensign

from the Chatham Daily News

By REV. R.E.J. BRACKSTONE

By REV. REJ. BRACKSTONE
Emmanuel Baptist Church
It has been announced that the government is going to assign us a new flag, our nation for years has been flying the Red Ensign. If we have to earrender the Red Ensign let us take note of the symbolian the Red Ensign has been telling us all down through the years.

Our text could be "In the Name of Our God, we will set our banners".
The Red Ensign has three banners.
First of all there is the flag of St.
George: a red rectangular cross on a white background. The flag was brought into being to honor St. George. brought into being to honor St. George who suffered marrydrom at the hands of the Romane because he refused to give up the Fisht. Then this flag was flying from the ships of Drake, Froblert Howard and other great captains whose ships defeated and drove into destruction the vessels of the Spanish Arminda when it came against a property of the state of the Spanish Arminda when it came against a state of the Spanish Arminda when it came against the state of the Spanish Arminda when it came against the state of the Spanish Arminda when it came against the state of the Spanish Arminda when it came against the state of the Spanish Arminda when it came against the Spanish Arminda when it cam

BLESSED NATION Another "banner" in the Red Ensign is the cross of St. Andrew. A diagonal cross on a blue background. The cross of St. Andrew is in honor of the Apostle Andrew of Holy Scripture. So the Re Ensign salutes the eternal Word of God. What's in a flag? That great significance is in the Red Ensign. When combined. Such a combination recog-nizes the truth: "Blessed is that nation whose God is the Lord".

whose God is the Lord".

The third "banner" in the Red Ensign is the cross of St. Patrick. It is a red disgonal cross on a white field.

This pays honor to Ireland. You will This pays honor to treams. You was remember from your history that in the fourth or fifth century A.D. Patrick was the first missionary to Ireland. Extracts from his messages show that Extracts from his messages show that he was an evangelical ... a New Testament fundamentalist ... because he preached that a salvation was in the Lord Jesus Christ to be obtained, not by works, but by fatth in the finished work of Christ. He then evangelized much of England. Patrick was in his day what John Wesley and George Whitfield were in their days. Early in the nineteenth century the cross of St. Patrick was blended with the cross of St. George and St. Andrew when the countries joined together forming Great Britain. So the Red Ensign has been a reminder that the Gospel as preached by Patrick, liberates men and women from their sins to make them better citizens in the lands they live. the Red Ensign came to be called a The "Union Jack" in the corner of "Jack" because it was worn on the uniforms or jackets covering the arm-our of the English soldiers. And it was called "Union" Jack because of the mion of the respective countries and

To scrap such a flag is to forget the past. When Israel crossed the Jordan River, the Lord ordered a mound of stones to be heaped up in the midst, So that when their children asked: "What mean ye by these stones?" they could be told the glorious past and the price of their present blessings. Our

Mr. Pearson's Last Retreat

(A translation from Le Devoir)

On May 18 last in the Commons, Mr. Pearson made it clearly understood that the life of his government depended on the outcome of the flag question: "I have already stated, he said, and I when the government submits in Parlament a matter of policy — and this tecratinly a matter of policy — and the government must stand or fail on the result of the decision of the Homes'. Pearson came before the Members with extractive different remarks. Any votes on the flag question will not be considered by the Government as being anguist party discipline, and there will stand the considered by the Government as being anguist party discipline, and there will be an any control of the common that the control of the control o On May 19 last in the Commons, Mr.

Yesterday's decision is more real-istic than that of May. It is more in line with the actual content of policy. However, it changes radically the nature of votes taken in the Commons nature of votes taken in the Common on the flag question. Eath now, we were faced with a resolution concerning the government and as such, a resolution of national policy. The government is a sign of identity. Henceforth, we are facing a simple motion put to the judgement of Members. Yesterday, the question was whether the government would obtain a sufficient number of today.

today. With the procedure now being adopted by the Government only a very strong majority of Members of all parties voting for the Pearson motion would give it any chance of influence on Canadian opinion. When an elected government risks it is life on a question, our system gives it the right to act in the name of gives it the right to act in the name of the whole country, when such a gover-ment has a majority. Lindsay folk were treated to the sight of a red fox this morning when the animal was noticed running back and forth up and down the railroad tracks which cross St. Patrick Street,

According to a report from Mrs. W. Crowley who resides on St. Patrick Street the animal undoubtedly was a red fox and seemed quite tame.

A crowd of children in the district caught sight of the fox and started to chase the animal. As a result it start-ed to run along the railroad tracks and disappeared in one of the neighbouring fields.

Foxes are a rarity in this district and no one seems to know where the animal could have been hiding. The fox did not neem wild and it is thought it may be the pet of a farmer in the vicinity. The animal has never been noticed before.

THE POST", LINDSAY, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9791 1964 A Case for Zoos

In a talk broadcast recently in the BBC European English Service, Dr. Desmond Morris, curator of mammals at the London Zoo, spoke of the grow-ing importance of the breeding policy of zoos as man's ever more efficient spread over the face of the earth threatened the existence of many specles of wild life. Conservationists were working hard to protect wild animals in their natural environments, he said, but this was not always easy. Natural disasters—droughts, floods, epidemics—and political upbeavals might intervene. "If breeding groups of animals are not established now in the larger are not established now in the larger goos throughout the world, many fas-cinating species will become extinct during the next century. . . The wild horse, the European bison, the Pere David deer, and the Hawalian goose are cases where, had it not been for special breeding studies and successes in captivity, the species would aiready have become extinct.

Dr. Morris went on to speak of two main obstacles to this kind of developmain obstacles to this kind of develop-ment in the study and protection of wild animals. One was that each zoo like to exhibit a few specimens of as many different species as it could ac-commodate, thus reducing breeding commodate, thus reducing breeding flexibility, and often leaving a single specimen when a mate died. He saw the zoo of the future as a specialized zoo, and already in some countries large breeding colonies of particular tional one. Many people had a deeply ingrained conviction that an animal in a 200 had been robbed of its 'freedom', and this worked against the efforts of life. "This conception of freedom is in fact an anthropomorphic feeling which has little real evidence to support it," said Dr. Morris. It is true, of course, that the zoo animal has lost its freedom eases, starvation, droughts, extremes of temperatures, the fears of preda-tion, and of course from lingering death; but loss of these kinds of free-the discs between her neck vortebrae were damaged. Eleven days after the operation, Miss Nizetich was able to return to work. Three ball bearings were inserted in her neck. She no longer has beadaches and can move her head fresly. She aquite unaware of the ball bearings. dom does not worry the anti-zoo mind for many years that a wild animal is hemmed in just as tightly in its natural environment as we are in ours. Its food demands, its terriform treats, and its predators make it a psychological captive, and there is a barrier round it that is just as effective as the bars-round its cage at the zoo. If this were not so it is hardly likely that animals would adapt so well and live so long in the environment of a zoo."

SUNSET THOUGHTS
I sat in the porch in my easy chair
As the summer sun was sinking
And I found myself as I rested there
Of other sunsets thinking.

Far other thoughts, far other scenes Old memories bring before me As the setting sun on the skyline leans They cast their shadows o'er me.

As I fdly gaze at the evening sky I think of the days that have come and gone How swittly pass the seasons by As the years of our lives roll on.

The scenes of the years the ages keep, In the winding scrolls of time. But who may plumb their fathoms deep Or scale their heights sublime.

If a man die shall he live again? The ancient seer enquired And found an answer only when He was by faith inspired.

Thus I sat and pondered long
With thoughts I little understood
Though through the rythm of my soug
A still voice whispered God is good.

Where the sun went down in the crimson An evening star is shinning, And I lay my body gown to rest On wonderful grace reclining.

Your baby needs a balanced diet 80 strained foods for your baby

Every 24 hours your baby may need more protein.

And vitamins.

And minerals.

And many other food elements.

Obviously, one food cannot provide them all.

By varying the kinds of foods you serve you give your baby a greater variety of nutrients.

We've vegetables, fruits, meats, meat dinners, desserts. And juices, custards, soups and eggs. Even spaghetti!

Each has a different content of vitamins, minerals and protein. Look over our variety of strained foods next time you're shopping.

Heinz also prepares 2 other foods for baby: five excellent cereals and over 50 Junior Foods (for babies from 10 to 24 months).

You'll find a complete line in the baby food section of stores right across Canada.

Victory Against Noise

Actor Derek Bond today enjoys a victory in his successful one-man war against the blaring transistor radios in London's Royal Parks. Bond three weeks ago complained about the noise filtering up to his apartment overlook-ing suburban Richmond Park. He then ing suburgan Resimond Park. He then rallied neighbours and hundreds of let-ters began pouring in to the Ministry of Public Works. Today large "Radios not allowed"

Lest We Forget

It was a fine, warm Sunday, twentyfive years ago on September 3rd, ander many people were sitting in their gardens, especially in the south of England, listening to the news on the radio. At 11.15 on that fateful mornation ting they were to hear Prime Minister Neville Chamberiain announce that Britain was at war with Germany for the second time in the Twentieth Century. Century.

Later in the day the erie sounding air

Later in the day the eria sounding air raid sirens sounded their first alert and the sliver barrage bailoons rose in the sky above London. It was as false alarm, but in later days the sirens were to wall again and nearly 30,000 Londoners were to die, and 1,800,000 of their houses were to be destroyed or dramared.

Preserving Old Harwich

Britain's Ministry of Works has re-cently made a grant towards the up-keep of the port of Harwich. BBC reporter Douglas Brown applauded the decision in a BBC talk about the old part of the town which he described as "the very essence of sea and ships" and one of the most exciting places on

Living Language

"When St. John used logos - word to signify the breath and impulse of creation, he pointed to a deep-rooted truth. We come to humanness, to sense of our shaping consciousness, in sense of our shaping consciousness, in the use and mirror of speech. We are less than human, in some radical in-firmity of silence or unmeaning sound, when words fall us. Like Orpheus, his head severed but stinging still, we are what we say, be it to ourselves. If this is true of individual speech, it is true also of a language. Languages have their own force of life." George Steiner, a Fellow of Churchill College, Oxford, speaking on the BBC.

A Degree Of Reassurance "I moretimes feel that having a baby these days is like studying for a degree; ante-natal lectures, relaxation classes, expressions like 'upper thoracle breathing', 'disassociation', 'dilation of the cervix'. .'! Well Done

All in all it was a great day for the paid off when the theate started its new life with an excellent play present-ed by the Harlequin Players following an official opening by the Honourable William Earl Rowe, P.C., LLD., Lieut-enaut-Governor of Ontario.

The theatre was not completely full however, as it should have been on this gala occasion and this can perhaps be laid to a tendency of some members of the Foundation to make the Academy appear a "white its and tails" theatre—the theatre should be for the rank and file, those who contributed their hard earned dollars to rebuild the an OPP cruiser arrived at the front en-trance of the Academy and the Lieu-tenant Governor and his wife, the Honourable Leslie Frost and his wife, Honourable Lesile Frost and me wite, had to clamber up the high broken step from the street where they looked around in a puzzled manner for a reception committee. Isn't the Queen's representative in Ontario entitled to a red carpet and a little more red carpet treatment?

Enough of the carping. We wish the Academy well. However a more imaginative public relations approach must be developed if the "ordinary"

Algonquin Park—There are over 400 different kinds of woodpeckers, and they are found in all parts of the world except Australia and Madagacar. Algonquin Park has six species of regular recoverace and two more which are recorded only on rares occasions. The fregular woodpeckers are Hairy,

"Except for the fact that they pock holes in trees, woodpeckers may seem to be rather uninteresting birds, but their physical adaptations are well worth a second look. All of us have seen how they oliging to the sides of tres, propping themselves with their tails which are made of stiff, pointed feathers for that purpose but we do not see the marvellous tongue which pround and barbed on the end like a posser. This is controlled by seen spear. This is controlled by special muscles which enable it to be thrust out for several inches and make it out of reach.

"Although we commonly recognize a woodpecker by its habit of hitching its way up the side of a tree, it is well to remember that two of our local species seem to have difficulty making up their minds how to act and if we judged their minds how to act and it we judged them only by what they do we could mistake them for something else. The flicker, although it is quite capable of working in wood and makes its neat by hollowing out a cavity in a standing by hollowing out a cavity in a standing tree, may often be seen perciping crosswise on a limitary crosswise on a limitary crosswise on a limitary crosswise on a limitary crosstree of the crossc

The BBC Round Britain

In proposing the toast of the BBC in proposing the total of the BBC at a Government dinner given in Bel-fast earlier this year to mark the fortieth anniversary of the beginning of broadcasting in Northern Ireland, the Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, Captain Terence O'Neill, paid tribute both to the BBC's tradition of public service and they standards of imparts. both to the BBC's tradition of public service and high standards of impar-tiality and integrity and to its service to that very distinctive region of the United Kingdom. "At the cultural level," said the Northern ireland Prime Minister, "the BBC has given an im-petus to regional music and drama Not since the days of the Rensissance princes has there been such a magnifi-cent and public-spirited patron of the area. Arrests Made

The Peterboro police have arrested two crooks, Rose and Barr, for "short changing" and they claim one is none other than H. Schelby, alais Meers, alias Phelps, who was arrested in Lindsay on July 12 last in the act of picking a man's pocket at the GTR station. His partner, they claim, is the man who went ball for him. Both have been identified by Mr. Mowry, of Peterboro who caught Schelby in the act on the date in question.

Chief Thompson, of Peterboro has writen Chief Short concerning the two men who have been committed for trial. Schelby, it will be remembered, jumped his bail.

With full recognition of the difficulttheles involved, could it be suggested to the federal Department of Citizenship that care be taken not to neglect the intangible values embodied in the ceremony of citizenship?

Perhaps that needs some explana-tion. Briefly, this is what happens to a new Canadian. He comes to Canada

And yot we know there is more to it than that. Why else should there be a waiting period of five years? Why should clizenahip be given only on ap-plication? What point is there in isauing a certificate?

The true values of citizenship are not concrete. That is why there is difficulty in describing them. On the part of Canada, citizenship is an acknowledgment of the man's quality and its acceptance of him. On the man's part, it is a declaration of his desire to become a Canada.

ing; of being one of the family; of be-ing able to hold his head up and tell the world, "Now I am a Canadian." What he gives is embodied in the simple phrase, "Thank you." In order to give embodiment to abstracts, people employ symbolism and ceremony. Thus Christianity is sym-bolized by the cross, Islm by the cres-

There is no limit to the example which could be given. And they should not be disregarded if the values they not be disregarded if the values they represent are to be held in respect. What man does not feel himself ser-lously slighted if his proffered hand-shake is thoughtlessly ignored? The symbol of citizenship is a certificate and the ceremony is the oath of allegiance which precedes it. Yet the latter is frequently conducted by a clerk at an office counter and the former is often not even presented, but mailed. Peter Moes, a new canadian, states his feelings in these words:

. "... Is it not true that this is a most important occasion? Yet, during the whole procedure, there was very little to suggest that this was so. First of all, although the session was held in ent, not because they were not permit-ted to enter, but because the court was simply too small to seat more than the tificate.

"What struck me most, however, was the lack of a sense of belonging, a feeling of welcome. Canada is such a beautiful country, its history so rick with incident, its art so full of colour sous, that it is indeed a privilege and an honour to become a Canadian. "Yet, not a word of all this was said and duy to voie. I wonder if a little more attention might not help us to feel that we are Canadians all."

There are two classes of people for whom symbolium may be unnecessary.

There are two classes of people for whom symbolium may be unnecessary.

The first, being what he keeped to the territorial of the control of the territorial of the control apply. The second will eagerly await the day when he can become a citizen. But he would do all that even if there were neither ceremony nor certificate. Between these two extremes lies the bulk of applicants. Simple people, good people, who will make first class citizens of Canada. They want their cliticenship, but would find it hard to explain why.

Don't let us make the mistake of selling ceremony and symbolism short. They are terribly important things in this prosale world. Perhaps the more important for that reason. Water has the oath of tolkizenship mean a great deal to these people. Let them be taken and given in an atmosphere of dignity. They are the tangible symbols of citi-zenship—symbols of the greater, in-tangible things they represent.

Considerable discussion took place regarding loans of $50 made by club members, ten years ago and it was decided to retire these loans during the coming season. It was also decleded to adhere to the schedule of nights for rink games, bus-iness girls, mixed curling and the McCrae competition on the same nights as last season.

Thanks were made for the cheque of $1500 received from the Ladies' Curling Club which has been earmarked for club improvements.

It was agreed the executive expects Tankard and District rinks to emerge from the McCrea cup competition, but a foursome from any other source would be welcomed.

RCAF Commemorates Battle of Britain

On commemoration of those who fought and died during the summer and fall days of 1940 when the Battle of Paritain was at its height, members of RCAF across the country will hold spec-ial ceremonies on Sunday, September

For the RCAF, the Battle of Britain has special significance. It was the first time since its organization in April 1924 that the RCAF had entered April 1964 that the RCAF land entered into battle against enemy forces. In August 1940, No. 1 Squadron of the RCAF (later designated 401) flew into action against the enemy near London, won its first victories and suffered its first casualities. The arbitrator followed up quickly "Ab, then you WERE gambling, weren't you?"

The worker looked up startled — "Gambling," he exclaimed with indignation, "with whom, sir".

Welsh Slate Tiles A new use for a kind of slate that until recently was thrown away as use-less was reported in the BBC General Overseas Service Webb Magazine' programme by Glyn Owen when he vis-tied the Dorothea Collegy in the slate quarrying area of North Wales.

quarrying area of North Wales.

This was slate with green stripes, said Owen, which hitherto everyone had thought would not look right as roofing slate and had been thrown on the waste pile. "Now these slates have come into their own as tiles. Polished up, they become very attractive, and when they were shown at a London exhibition last year they proved a huge success." They can be used for floor-ing and paving, or made into tiles with

Shakespeare Characters In Glass

The striking representations of Shakespeare characters engraved on Shakespeare characters engraved on large panels of transparent glass at the newly-built Shakespeare Centre at Stratford-on-Avon are work of New Zealand born artist John Hutton, already famed for his use of the technique on the huge glass acreen in the new Coventry Cathedral.

Talking to Barry Carman in an in-terview broadcast in the BBC General devises Service programme 'Here and Now', Mr. Hutton pointed out that, as there was no background, he had chosen characters whose relationship with each other would show their identity, and such outstanding figures as Faistaff, Julius Caesar and Othello. As the figures were at spectators' level, facial characteristics were very importof the characters.

The artist had to engrave with grind-stones into the glass rather slowly, he explained, and no siteration could be made except by cutting deeper. (He did not cut deeper than one-eigth of an lnch). "The whole this is created by

Fair time

It is fair time once again and the fair-grounds are a beabive of industry as final preparations take place. Provid-ing the weather is kind the directors of the fair have every reason to sup-pace the fair will be its usual success. We expect, it will be. We would say however that the di-rectors must guard against comple-ency. Patrs of all sizes from the little village types to the Canadian National ency. Fairs of an sizes from the inde-village type to the Canadian National Exhibition seem to suffer from lack of change. We don't mean change for the sake of change, but change to meet the sake of change, but change to meet the present day ideas. Just as the high-bottomed cars of yesteryear gave way to the sleek, modern cars of today, so must the fairs that originated in the days of the past keep up to date in their displays, entertainment and at-fractions. People are ifickle.

Behind the Beatles

A young man who has had a fantastic rise to fame and fortune in the last two or three years is Brian Epstein still being borne along upon the crest of a quadruple mop-headed wave—he is the discoverer and manager of the Beatles, discovere and manager of the Beautes, who have been having such uproarfous receptions in America recently. Into the record department of the father's furniture shop in Liverpool came a boy, saking for a record the Beatles, then quits unknown. Birtan discovered there was one to be — In Germany. Later he found that the hastenest where they played was just down the road where he worked. Most of it was too inflamed and strongly advocating the liberation by violence of all who oppose th com-

The road to Peking was good. Ex-cept when passing vehicles, we travel-led at from 50 to 60 miles an hour most of the way, but through the towns at 25 to 35.

Apart from buses and occasional military vehicles, there was little oth-er motor traffic on the highway, al-though within the city of Peking itself in Shanghai.

Our guide's enthusiasm for pointing out official buildings, especially the "culture palaces of the workers." was unbounded. He recited the dimensions and seating capacity of each, and the amenities they provided.

The Chin Chow hotel where we were accommodated in Peking is a post liberation cliffic of all stoffer with the contraction of the cont eration edifice of six stories with a commodious and well furnished foyer and lounge—suitable enough but not on a par with international standards. It was adequately heated and comfort-able after the sub zero temperature

The rooms were large with high cel ings, and equipped with private toilets and showers. The plumbing fixtures like most other equipment we saw there did not appear to be destined for there did not appear to be destined for a long life, but maybe we were looking for faults.

The food was fair enough, and the menu was adequate. We had a choice of Chinese or European dishes.

There appeared to be 30 or 40 non-Chinese guests, including quite a number of Japanese businessmen staying there in connection with a commercial exhibition.

In addition there were several hundred transient Chinese guests, all dressed in blue clothing and wearing blue cloth caps, or else fur caps with ear flaps, something we looked upon with envy in those sub-zero tempera-

There was a bar on every floor, of the hotel but there did not appear to be overmuch drinking, and certainly nothing even faintly resembling drunk-eness, there or elsewhere. Probably the bars had been installed

Probably the pars and been instance, for the convenience of overseas guests, and maybe the Communist guests had little money with which to buy liquor. We were thirsting for overseas news, but the only Englis hlanguage foreign newspaper we were able to purchase in the hotel was a copy of "The People's Voice" the Communist news-paper of New Zealand.

Main Street Comments

William Street excevation, subterranean passages, wooden box drains, brick roads and cordury roads are all among the chief topics of conversation in Lindau today. The big hole at the corner of William and Wellington Streets was something, but the huge excavation and dug out between Bond and Francis street by the old florm Woolen Mills is something again. It is so deep that the big buildcord own the hole bility it will go deeper.

As one bystander remarked
"Who is going to pay for all this" Lindsay hamlet was built in a mire. There are through back gardens to the vi-cinity of the Arkset house on Wellington, close to the Colli-son residence on Cambridge across William streets towards the north end of the old wollen mills, gushing out in the Scu-

Your baby gets extra care So do Heinz Strained Toods You'd be surprised how much

We pamper our Strained Foods. Outrageously.

After Heinz containers are sealed they are heated to ensure complete sterilization.

The inside of every container is given the proper lining needed to protect the flavour.

We don't simply pour our baby food through a sieve. We take the time to strain it thoroughly. No lumps. Ever.

We add a little broth to our meats-after we trim away all excess fat.

And our fruit and vegetables are grown from seeds we select

All these exta things we do.

Just for your baby. Just for you,

Heinz also prepares 2 other foods for baby; five excellent cereals and over 50 Junior Foods (for babies 10 to 24 months).

Like our strained foods, they are as gentle, as nutritious as care can make them

You'll find a complete line in the baby food section of stores right across Canada.

Poet's Corner

Castles filled with wondrous things.
Emeralds and rubles and diamond rings.
Exquisite designs on every wall.
The rich man owns all these things.
The emeralds, the rubles, the diamond rings.

Yet, will beckons to men as these.
Whose work shall neither start nor cease
For the silver spoon is all they know,
Besides the splendor, pomp and show.
So tired of worthless courtly life
They enter into sin's dark strife.

The poor man lives in a small abode Unsheltered from blizzards and bitter cold, Often without kindling and tue! He must face the storms bitter and cruel, He must fight to keep his life, His home, and family safe from strife.

The poor man's work is never done.
Yet, he still has time for wholesome fun.
For courage and honest pride.
The Lord is right by his side —
For though he's short of worldy goods
He has a Master kind and good.

The rich man's life is empty waste, Filled with hate and bitter taste, The poor man knows that he has done The best he could and still had fun, So when both these men are old. The poor man has the golden gold.

Is it a big car? Is it a small car? Is it a compact?

Yes.

It's a Volkswagen 1500. It's a big car because it can carry seven children, a mother and eight smiles, Or it can hold five grown-ups sitting down. It's a small car because it's three feet shorter than most station wagons. And it's a compact because we don't waste a single inch of space. The engine is hidden away deep down in the back. So you have a 5% foot flat loading area. And up under the front hood there's a trunk. Just like in Volkswagen's famous beetle-shaped sedan. And our VW 1500 has all the other advantages of the more familiar looking Volkswagen. It gets better footing in mud and snow because the engine weight is over the drive wheels. There's no radiator to freeze or boil. And it doesn't use much gas. The VW 1500 usually gets about 35 miles on a gallon. That goes a long way with seven children and a mother.

How KVP got its name

Vegetable parchment was disscover-ed over a century ago by an English chemist who accidentally dropped a sheet of cotton rag paper into sulphur-ic acid. Pulling it out quickly, and rinsing it in water, he was amazed at the result. The paper now had such interesting properties as wet-strength, grease resistance and translucency.

Later, when produced commercially, the new paper was given the name vegetable parchment to distinguish it from animal skin parchment which was of similar texture and appearance Triday, wood fibres are the main

The seeds of these probeins had their origin in Nehru's failure to check India's soaring population boom and his neglect of agriculture in this na-tion of 500,000 villages.

While India's population increases by 8,000,000 (M) persons a year, agri-cultural production is at a virtual standstill at 80 million tons of food grains annually.

Some political observers privately express fears that the Indian economy already has passed the point of no re-

The problem of alcohol

Alcohol is a major problem in traffic safety, according to Dr. Merrya G. Hardings, chalman of the Department of Pharmacology at Loma Linda Uni-versity, California. Dr. Hardings was addressing about 100 Seventh-Day Ad-ventist Ministern attending a six-day seminar for clergymen on counselling of alcoholies and heavy smokers.

The doctor said a drinking driver's visual reaction time is slowed by alcohol and he takes considerably longer from red through amber to green. equipment: a bank loan

It has become almost standard practice today for people to go to their bank to finance the purchase of cars and other family items. You, too, may have found it a good idea to borrow where you save - at your local bank. It is often simpler, because the hank already knows you as a savings customer. And it also may save you money because bank loans are low-cost loans. For borrowing and saving, and for any other bank service you may need, just visit your local chartered bank. It's the one place where you can get all your banking done. under one roof.

Parliament needs revitalizing

New Democrat Leader T. C. Doug-las has proposed two basic changes in parliamentary rules to "modernize and speed-ing parliament without crip-pling discussion". Douglas said the reasons for the changes were that "parliament was "in the air" and the institution was under a shadow.

much needed reform.

Douglas suggests, an annual parliamentary timetable, with periods set aside for house debates, for commutee work and for constituency visits.

—The adoption of the allocation-of-time rule to pre-determine the length of debate through all party negotiation and agreement.

—Assure house consideration and disposal of committee recommenda-tions, give continuity of committees from session to session; give them a right to a secretariat; reduce the size of committees.

-Drastically change the "want of confidence" motions by bringing forward departmental estimates in one motion instead of six, and allow up to six special confidence debates a year when demanded on notice by 10 or more members.

—Limit speeches by allowing the Prime Minister and the leader of the opposition 90 minutes, any lead-off party spokesman 40 minutes and all other members 30 minutes.

other members 30 minutes.

—Eliminate debate on the resolution stage of a money bill unless there is unanimous demand for it.

—Extend time on private members' bills coupled with a guarantee in the rules that they come to a vote.

—End appeals of Speaker's rulings on motions to adjourn regular debate to discuss a matter of special urgency, but allow proposers of such motions to make statement on the question.

—Increase the quorum in the house (now 20 members) and tighten up attendance requirements.

—Adopt permanently the provisional changes which streamlined procedure on motions, oral questions, and the production of papers.

Douglas, in recommending the 10 changes said they need not be adopted in toto. But he said, the most vital, yet indefinite factor in parlamentary.

Qualifications

for the arditous duties of public office. However there is one field in which more interest abould be taken, and more qualifications required before election. This is the matter of school trustees. All too often these are re-turned to office by acclamation and voters take little interest in these men rhaps it is not necessary to in Perhaps it is not necessary to in-cite that school trustees have as many qualifications as the teachers they hire, but voters at election time should satisfy themselves the men that stand are capable of guiding the doucational future of our children. In addition more capable men and women should be encouraged to stand for these vital boards.

in home workshop

Many employees, in this do-ityourself age, have home workshops.

The workshops may range from a small area with a collection of miscellaneous tools in a corner of the garage to a well-equipped shop devoted to such hobbies as woodworking, if you do not already have them. Many home workshop accidents are caused through the use of makeshift tools or equipment. Be sure you use the right tool for the job. Special-purpose tools and equipment can often be rested from hardware stores or restal and the property of the property close supervision, especially while the youngsters are learning.

Observance of these practices in your home workshop will reduce accident and injuries—not only to you but to your family as well.

Catalyst of Growth

As Summer gives way to Fall and the rising generation flocks back to the classroom, the nation's economists are to be found marvelling at the sustained growth being demonstrated by the Can-adian economy.

And, in truth, we are witnessing a

And, in truth, we are witnessing a remarkable performance by any standard. After three-and-a-half years of continuous expansion, the economy, far from tiring, shows itself more vigrous than ever. All the indications suggest that the real gain in national wealth in 1944 will exceed the most optimize predictions.

Not the least pleasing feature of this to see more demandatelly in the fact that there were fully a quarter of a million more Canadiana at work that summer than last. Even more significant, one-third of these had a job in amanufacturing industry, many in the manufacturing labour force lies not just had been a laborated to the second of the second of the second of the laborated in ladered employment to which it automatically given the increased plate increased purchases of a wide range of goods and services on the part of companies and employees alike. The range of goods and services on the part of companies and employees alike. The net effect is a substantial boost to em-ployment in other segments of the ec-onomy, and this is certainly what has happened since the current upswing got under way in 1981.

got under way in 1981.
Manufacturing's decisive role as the catalyst of economic growth is further underlined in the latest review of capital expenditure plans published by the Department of Trade and Commerce. Estimates of total speeding this year seakurply up, with manufacturing industry accounting for the largest upward revisions. All is also investigated to the control of th well over seventeen hundred million dollars in new plant and equipment, an increase of four hundred million dollars (or 3) percent) over 1985.

This is as massive a vote of contridence in the country's future as could be wished for. It will do much to further nourish the economy and raise productivity, thereby improving our competitive position in relation to other competitive position in relation to other plants. er industrial nations. And it certainly adds up to a highly effective retort to those who question the desirability of rising corporate earnings. The immediate economic outlook

The immediate economic outlook, then, is distinctly encouraging. Yet those who make important national decisions must look beyond the next few months and weigh the implications of recent authorative warnings that the long-term problem is less one of meroly maintaining the current rate of economic growth, then of early scoplers.

A DEATH ACT AND A DEATH ACT AN

Mr. and Mrs. E. Otto of Smith Falls were weekend vi-sitors of his mother, Mrs. Dora

Mrs. F. Ward and Mrs. Al-lan and children were visitors of relatives in Toronto this week. Mrs. Lila Bradamore was the winner of the fifty dollars in the Legion draw. Rev. and Mrs. Bridle Rev. and Mrs. Bridle of Al-liston, former minister here a number of years ago, renewed old acquaintances on Thursday before they moved from Allis-ton to Regina.

Mrs. C. Little and children of Lindsay, were Wednesday visitors of Mrs. A. Marles. It was a shock to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Gertrude Watson. The grief of the loved ones who mourn her passing is shared by many.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Lytle of Toronto were weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Peel.
